1.4.95
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant Theodore Cottingham, February 23, 2006 5:01pm in van www.unc.bz

1. You are just beginning to see me as I am; to know me in my infiniteness; my unlimited all-potential, all-being; the one and only I Am; and seeing me, you see me as I really am in my creation; not afar off; but in/inside, interior'd-molecular'd; not as pictured and thought, but yea in every structure I am; and I am me and you are me, and you now see me as I Am.

2. You are beginning to get it, you have gotten it, you have gotten me in physical form; and yea the manifestation of my allness you now bring forth; and I am happy with me/you, yea that I am I Am; and you in me/me in you, and the father bring forth yea as never before seen in a man; and the beginning which you begin now will never end; for all who follow me, follow you, not in just-like manner, and yet, yea the same; me entering your door, not; you entering mine and all after you, ours, all after you, ours.

3. See what I have said. Condition not/precondition not, yea but entry by surrender; the one and only lamb/the one lamb of which we all are, yea seen, acknowledged, experienced in surrender, in fullness. I love you and I give you me. This is just now the beginning, again. I love you.

4. Thou art a host of survivors, not; surrenderers; and one being one, now one, all is known and comes forth, yea in the language/material/essence/character/nature/values/interaction of me. I love you. My heavens you are.

5. Good day. See what I have said. Enjoy. Alter not. Enjoy fully, and eat of me/repleted be. You are I Am.